The 2021 Infusion Therapy Standards of Practice: An Introduction

Recognized as the premier organization for the specialty practice of infusion nursing, the Infusion Nurses Society (INS) understands the significance that the Infusion Therapy Standards of Practice (the Standards) hold in relation to the delivery of safe patient care. The recent release of the 2021 Infusion Therapy Standards of Practice synthesizes the global evidence base and clinical expertise to provide a guide to safe practices.

At 3M, we are proud to have worked with Lisa Gorski, the chairperson of the INS Standards Committee, to provide an educational event that summarizes the key changes and evidence-based recommendations in the new edition of the Standards.

Objectives:

- Describe the INS Standards of Practice revision and review process
- Discuss the global impact of the INS Standards of Practice
- Discuss new and key INS recommendations
